New Friends Are Made

The halfs are once again filled with 7 bright, eager faces of the freshmen and 1210 not so bright or riger faces of the upperclassmen

Fo these students, school is more than the basics, reading, writing and withmetic. High school afe is fated with Friday night games, dances and parties

As the year began, many new friends were made The school of were formed through classes, activities and organizations. These friends and the fun outweigh. I the drudgery of homework and exams.

No activities were going this year. Everyone wanted to be avolved Fund raisers included everything from M & M's to pizzas, and from cheese to wrapping paper. The students purchased over $1,000 in order to be a part of these events.

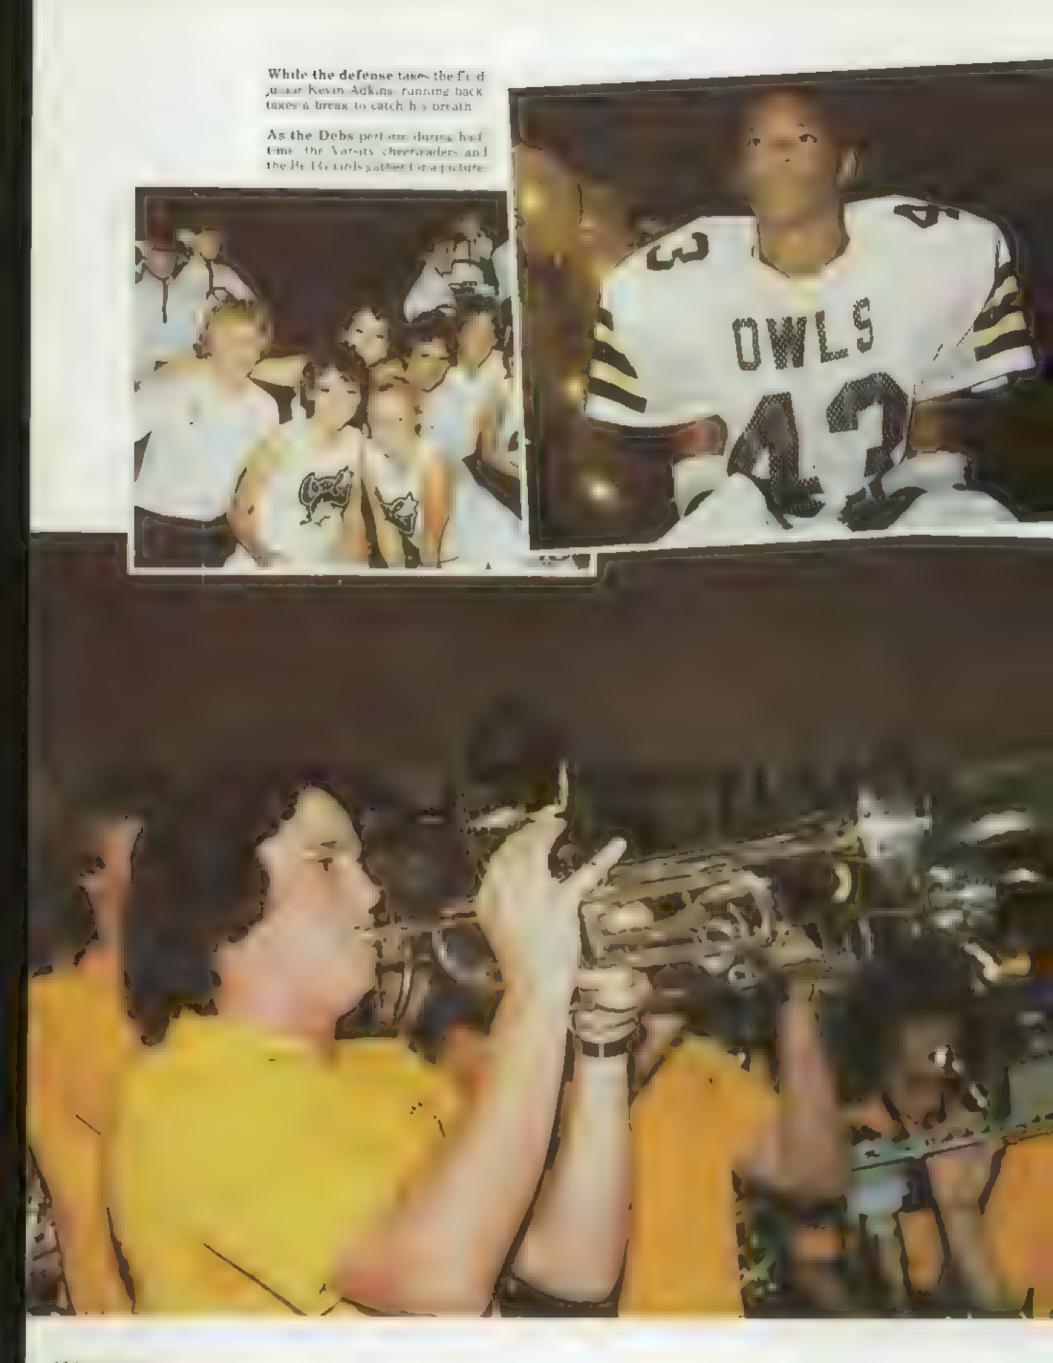

> These experiences have created friendships that will last forever. When old friends get together and recal more ries of the past, they will inevitably talk about school They may returnber little things such as where they sat in a particular class. They decided to wear them in the second half so they would be better able to identify their teammates. These ierseys aided them in winning the game 7-6. Considered lucky colors, black and gold became the legendary school colors."

"Garland is known by our black and gold Owl. Ollie is a symbol of the people and their pride in the school," said Carey Johnson. Halftime Ceremonies

It was a warm, muggy October day filled with nonstop excitement. The day was Friday the 12th, and the mood was set with jingling bells and chattering voices in the ball

As the day lingered, students were overwhelmed by the glamour of the up-coming event. The night seemed endless hours away as the clock hit 3:15 and students flooded the halts. "The excitement was really great." said junior Tammy Schilling 'Everyone was so anxious to go home and get ready for the game."

As night fell, the Home coming crowd filled the stadium, and the festivities began. The Dashing Debs performed their pre-game rou

"I couldn't believe he actually called my name. I'd never been so excited in my life," said Valarie, remembering the excitement. "I looked at everyone's faces and saw their smiles, and I knew that it was my name they had called."

After the game the thrill was not over Everyone still had the traditional Coronation Ball to look forward to. The Ball, held on Saturday night, was considered a success The students who attended were treated to the sight of a cateteria which had under gone a Cinderella like transformation by the hands of student Council members. 'I enjoyed the music they played at the dance," said senior Roger Kelley. "They played a lot of slow songs that everyone could dance to."

On A Cheap Dat

Going out on dates every weekend can be pretty ex pensive for whoever usually pays for the meals, movies, etc. Therefore, the necessity of the dating game somtimes results in an occasional cheap date. Dinner at Jack in-the-Box and a movie at Walnut Twin is considered, by most, to be a cheap date. Just sitting at home and watching cable that parents

pay for, is also on the list

When asked what he thought to be a cheap date, senior Jimmy Keller said, "he thinks a cheap date is somebody who doesn't want to have fun"

Almost half of the students think a cheap date is one that costs anywhere from nothing to $10.00. "I don't expect to go anywhere expensive, just somewhere nice," savs junior Kim Arnold. Riding around town, trying to find something to do was considered by about 30% of the students to be a cheap date. Some students said that they considered going to a party to be a cheap date, but they usually have fun. "I enjoy the evening by going back to her house to watch T.V or listen to the radio." savs junior Brian

Footwear Becomes High Fashion

From leather oxfords worn with yellow crew socks, to red high-top sneakers paired with astrological-print an klets; footwear is becoming a high-tech fashion trend aimed toward individuality

From generation to generation fads change and styles vary. Footwear was never the big concern in fashion. If someone bought a pair of shoes or socks that everyone liked, everyone would go out and buy a pair just like them. Soon, the whole school would have matching feet

Since then that idea of duplicating the look of someone else has vanished. Students now shop for footwear that no one else could possibly have. Sophmore Rebekah Ross, who is seen quite often wearing her pink high-top shoes with no socks savs. "I really like my high-tops. They're different, and they're me."

Fluorescent socks definitely caught everyones eye this year. "I think fluorescent socks should be against the law before 11:00 in the morning. You definitely have to have a good nights sleep before wearing anything that bright," says sophmore Kayse Kendall

While girls have gone to the extremes in footwear, the guys have stuck to the basics. Cowboy boots and tennis shoes are still in because they're "comfortable, practical, and they go with every thing," says senior Chris McGilvray. World Geography teacher Mark Feuchter finds grey cowboy boots the answer to the fashion trend 'I'm waiting for the look to catch on. Soon everyone will be wearing boots just like mine."

Junior Win Highlights Week

Twirp week is a tradition between the juniors and the that is popular among the students During this week the roles are reversed. Girls ask the guys out and pay for the entire date. "I think Twirp week is a great time for the girls to ask out the guys, 'said sophomore Shan non Estes. "The reason most guys enjoy Twirp is because it is the only time guys do not have to pay," explained senior David Sanders. There is also a Powder-puff game in which the girls are the football players and the guys dress up like the cheerleaders and Debs.

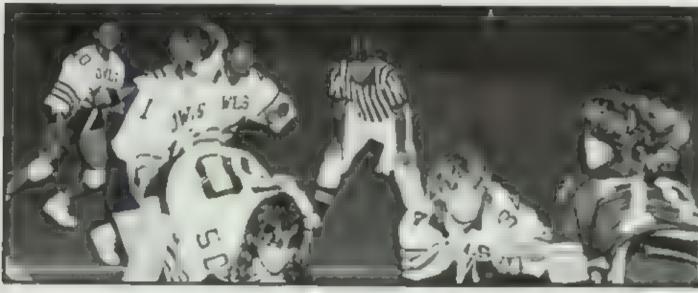

Twirp week began on March 25th and ended on March 29th with the Pow der-puff game. The contest seniors was highlighted by the halftime festivities. Mr Price's announcement was proceeded by an excited crowd surrounding Steven Derrick, the new Twirp king Steven was chased to the track where he was greeted by David Kaes who drove him around the track in an old beat up green station wagon. After the Dashing Dude's performance, the game continued. The game was a very tight race ending in a victory for the Juniors with a score of 7 to 6

"Twirp week really got everybody all hyped up for the big game,' commented senior Russell Pearson Student council sponsored the week. On Monday students wore Hawaiian shirts and long shorts. Tuesday was the time to honor the college of your choice by wearing a college t-shirt. On Wednesday, students took it easy and wore their sweat suits. Since it was Nerd day. Thursday brought out the nerd in ev eryone. Finally Friday brought the week to a close with Black and Gold day. Romances Develop In Hallways

Many high school romances are developed and terminated during break, lunch and the five minutes between classes. High school romances are noted for being unusually shortlived, except for the few true loves that go on to develop into long lasting relationships.

Sophomore Monica Watson in speaking of her relationship with boyfriend Jimmy Dobbs said, "We've been together for three months and who knows what might happen from here. We don't get a chance to spend much time together outside of school during the week so we spend time just holding hands and being together between classes."

Although there is a rule that states students are not to display public affection while at school, teachers and administrators tend to be lement with students

"The students are usually pretty good about obeying this rule," said Assistant Principal, Mr. Larry Williams. "We don't really mind if they hold hands or walk each other to class," said Williams

Tornado Wrecks Garland

December 13th was a day of destruction. A tornado twisted through the Garland and Mesquite areas leaving a path of desolation that covered

With major damage suffered in Northeast Garland, many students were delayed in traffic from debris blown in the streets miles. The news traveled quickly through the school as concerned parents called to make sure the school was undamaged. "I had heard people talking about what had happened, but I didn't believe it until I went home and the streets were covered with debris," said sophomore Monica Opting for a juice drink, senior Jamie Hill purchases a beverage from the Watson.

The tornado touched down in areas close to Sellers Middle school and the area surrounding Lavon Drive Pieces of sheet metal, fences, windows, and roof tops covered the streets, and many people were left homeles without any place to stay

Fruit Punches Replace Caffeine

To many students, relaxing and drinking a coke before school or during break is an important part of the school day. As of this year, students must either wait in long lines for carbonated soft drinks, or do without. Except for in the cold lunch lines, soft drinks cannot be found anywhere near the cafeteria for students' consumption

For their own good, students can choose between cherry, lemon, orange or grape flavored punch. This transition has proved to be hard on some who think they need caffiene to function during the school day

The new drinks were put into the machines with the emphasis being placed on the nutritional value of school lunches. However, these punches state that they contain no natural juices. To meet the new state requirements, students are now drinking artifically-flavored fruit juices with their hot lunches, and are buying these from the "COKE" machines in the cafeteria

Booths Replace Sun

In the beginning there was the sun. People tanned their bodies with the sun's natural rays. As time progressed, the fast paced life of the city has prevented many from catching these rays.

Therefore, students have turned to another source — tanning booths. Students have found that lying in a cof-

Adds Class To Cars

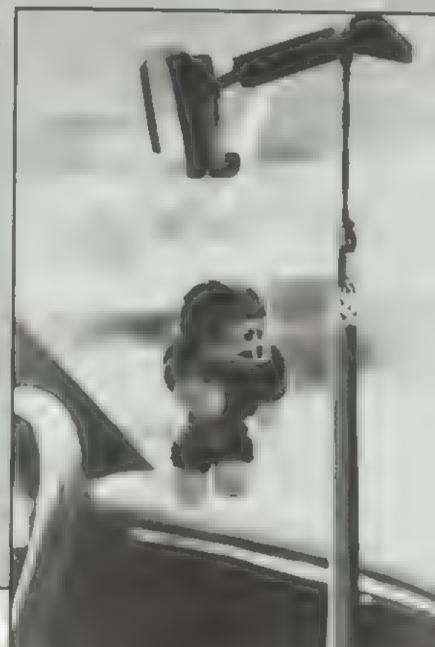

Bandanas, necklaces, tas sels, and air fresheners, these are just a few of the items seen hanging from the rearview mirrors of many high school student's automobiles. Out of 50 juniors and semors surveyed, 86% have some sort of ornament hanging from their mirror

There are many different reasons why students hang things on their rear-view mirrors. "It is a way of expressing my individualism." stated junior Tonya Smith, who has a Chippendale air freshener hanging in her car. While some see it as expressing one's own personality, the overall consensus is that people hang things from their mirrors just because everyone else does

Senior Chad Hardcastle had a slightly different opin ion than most. "Other people do it just to copy me, said Hardeastle No matter what the reasons for hanging things from rear-view mirrors, students everywhere are showing that they have imagination by the items that they choose to display in their vehicles

One of the most unusual items found was in Jumor Royal Mowerv's Ford truck "I have a turkey beard hanging from my mirror to be different," stated Mowery. The idea of hanging something for decoration from a rear-view mirror may be only a passing fad, but it will definitely leave a lasting impression of the creativity of teenagers

Almost 79% of the students surveyed confessed that they chew gum all day every day. "I really only chew gum during my English class," said junior Donnie Wilkerson. Eightysix percent of the students said that they were so accustomed to chewing gum that it had become a habit. Sixtyfive percent of the students who answered the polls simply said that they chewed gum just because they like it.

Students Put In Overtime

For some, the day isn't over after sixth period. Hours of practice, sweaty ciothes, empty stomachs, and messy weather conditions are all a part of an athlete's day. From two-a days in football, to the mile runs in cross country track, much hard work and effort are put into school sports.

Putting up with all of the screaming coaches, the criticizing fans, and what seems like unfair referees is only a part of being on the team. The hard work doesn't stop at practice and games. Most athletes hit the books at night in order to keep up their grades. With the new House Bill, all classes must be passed in order to participate in any kind of school sponsored sports.

Varsity Hopes Fade With Mid-season Losses

Coming into this season, the Varsity Foot-ball team had one goal, to gain a spot in the post-season play. With this goal in mind, the leam came flying out of the starting gate and gained a 2-0 record. After this encouraging start, they stumbled and never regained full strength

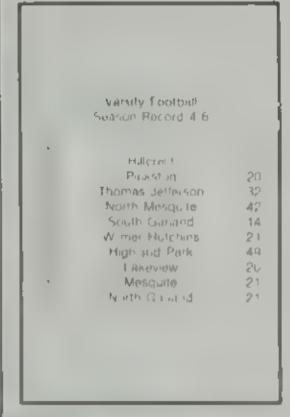

As they opened the season, they were able to roll up consecutive victories over Hill-crest and Pinkston. During this time the running game provided most offense, while the defense shined with hard hitting and aggressive tackling. With the two wins under their belts, the team then traveled to Dalias to face. Thomas, Jefferson. This particular Thursday evening seemed to mark the beginning of the downfall of the football team's hopes. Even though they went into the game as favorites, the Patriots were able to run over the Garland defense. In the end, they were defeated and had a 2-1 record moving into district play.

With the loss to the Patriots behind them the team faced a very tough opponent in North Mesquite. The Stallions were able to use their over-powering offense and defense to overcome them. The following week, the crosstown rival. South Garland Colone's filled the role of the opponent in a game with emotions running very high, both teams stayed even throughout the contest. Late in the game they were able to mount a come-from-behind passing drive to win 16-14 in a less than sparkling performance. Next in line were the high flying Wilmer-Hutchins Eagles. The Eagles did almost anything that they wanted to in this game. Our team was shutout for the only time during the season by a score of 21-0 and seemed to all but throw in the towel for the season.

Just when it seemed all hope was lost for the playoffs, the team was able to stay with Highland Park for three quarters in a must win situation. The Scots were able to pull away in the end and shut the door on the playoff chances

With three games still on the schedule they were able to manage only one win deteating Mesquite. In the other two games the Owls lost by only a touchdown to Lakeview and North Garland

Lean Season

The junior varsity football team posted a record of 1-8 while the freshman composed a 4-5 overall record. The freshman football team coached by Lee Ferrell had an up and down season which left some disappointment on the minds of the coaches and players. Kent Turner coached the junior varsity squad through the year

The freshmen were led by the outstanding plays of Chad Wood, Scott Landeros, Danny Diaz, Rubin Amesquita, Steve Martin, and Danny Ridge. Wood received the team honor as best player. Additional honors were given to Landeros for offensive player of the year and Amesquita and Diaz were named

'Our highlight for the season was our victories over South Garland and Lakeview. We had two other games that we should have won but were not able to pull through," said Freshman coach Ferrell. The drawback that hurt the squad was the lack of speed in the open field

"For the material we had, the season was a success, and the attitude was good and should carry over to their j.v. season next year," added Ferrell

'Our J.v. team gained valuable experience throughout the season that will be of good use to them on varsity," said J.V coach Turner

Season Bring Mixed Feelings

Posting a 19-9 record, the Owl's varsity volleyball learn had mixed feelings about the season. "We telt we should have placed in the top two in district, so it is disappointing that we didn't, but overall we had a successful year," said Coach Donna Webb

Seniors LaWanda Vaughn and Sherri Hawkins took a variety of different awards this season to add to previous honors Vaughn was selected to second team All-District, second team All-City and Co-MVP in 1983. She added first team All-District and first team All-City in 1984. Hawkins took All-District honorable mention in 1983 and second team All-City in 1984, Junior Tricina McCrainey took All-District honorable mention and sophomore Freida Crosby was named sophomore of the year in the city of Garland

As team play is concerned, Hawkins a Vaughn led the Owl spiking affack with setting provided by McCrainey and just Tracey Duncan, Senior Linda Wilson and niors Adrian Chatman and Amy Hall chored the serving task. "Crosby emergas one of the finest players in terms of high dedication, and ability to spike. I exp Freida to tack up the slack and continue good play next year upon graduation some key players," said Coach Webb. "highlight of the season for us was the fact probably possessed the strongest and highlight of the district," added Coallebb.

Losing half of their players to graduati five to be exact, the Owls will now be searing for some new girls to emerge with quaskills.

Massive Participation Results In

Two Teams

With 26 girls going out for the JV Volleyball team, Coach Nancy McGee had to narrow the squad down to 20 girls. The girls went on to post a 5-9 district record and a 7-16 overals record. The squad was then narrowed further into two teams. One team competed on Tuesday nights and the other one competed on Thursday evenings

"No one was able to get as much playing with two teams as they would have liked, but everyone got to play," said Coach McGee Certain players emerged from the rest and asserted themselves with above average skills. Among them were Monica English, Lain e Crites, Debra Davis, and Twanna Colbert. "Monica showed a positive attitude and showed a great deal of leadership. She a ways encouraged us and added spirit to the team," said teammate Lainie Crites,

Even with a below .500 season winning percentage the squad still compiled some highlights. Defeating Highland Park both home and away provided inspiration for the team. Competing in various tournaments the girls were almost able to advance into the playoffs.

'During the season we tried to play together as a team. Even when we lost match es in which the opposing team had worked very hard to beat us, we didn't give up," added Crites.

The spirit of the team was kept up by the support given by the Varsity Squad

In only its second year of existence, the cross country track team made great strides and became strong competitors. Especially the girls section of the team showed the greatest Improvement

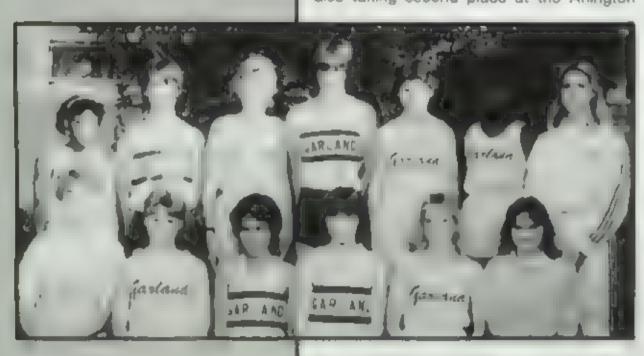

"We had a very good year. This being only our second year, and for the girls to take third place in district was great," said Coach Lipscomb. The girls were led by junior Sherri Whitfield, sophomore Cindy Dunagin and freshman Crystal Coleman. On the other hand, the boys were placed by sophomore Santiago Hernandez.

The highlight of the season for us was our girls taking first place in the Richardson Lancaster and Spruce meets and the girls also taking second place at the Arlington

Injuries, Underclassmen Resu In Disappointing Season

For Soccer Teams

The girl's soccer team had a very impressive season considering the many obstacles they had to overcome while the boy's team competed in a very tough district, even though many players were underclassmen injuries plagued the girls team, beginning with the loss of Amy Hall, goal-keeper, after the second ball game of the season. With only fourteen players on the roster, the teams rarely had substitutes to call on, "We had some excellent talent this year in players like Tracy Traylor, Kelly Norfleet and Nikk Weber to name a few," said Coach Nancy McGee. Though occasionally the boy's team was outmanned, the Owl's used hustling gressive play to overcome the competition. The young players will provide a fine number of seasons to come." said Coaffeuchter. All district players were seed team James Dugger, Jim Wright and Limina. Honorable Mention players were to ben Bourbois, Scott Deel and Juan Alvi The girls will return eleven of their fourted players, including second team Ali-Distiplayer Nikki Weber and ali-district Honable Mention players Holly Swanzy, Jacobonson and Brande Houston.

Going into the season, the varsity boys basketball team had high hopes for what the season could bring. Little did they know they would wind up with a 26-5 record

Starting off on a roll, the boys went until the middle of December before suffering their first loss. Then moving into the district schedule, the Owls suffered only one defeat going 13-1. This loss occurred during the much criticized game at Highland Park School was canceled that day because of snow, but the game was still played as scheduled Even with this loss, the Owls held on for their first district championship in eight years. "We were the surprise team in the Metroplex. We went from fifth place a year ago to the top of the district," said third year coach Lane Norsworthy

Leading the Owls through the long season were seniors Daron Blaylock and Raymond Satchell along with Junior Richard Derrick and freshman Neil Derrick. Late in the season junior Ricky Alsbrook emerged and propeiled the squad to important victories. Off the bench, juniors Robert Thompson ar Kevin Mack contributed at different poin during the season

After the season was over, the post se son honors began to roll in. Blaylock wa named MVP in District 9-5A. He was name to first team All-District and the first tea All-Metro. Blaylock also received invitation to participate in the Texas Shootout All-St game in Houston, the Waco All-Star Gam and the Texas/Oklahoma All-Star gam Derrick received first team All-District, se ond team All-Metro, and second team A Region. Neil Derrick was recognized by the district as the newcomer of the year. Sa chell and Alsbrook were given honorab mention on the All-Gar and selection Coach Norsworthy was rewarded for t coaching efforts by being named coach the year in District 9-5A and the Dallas-For Worth Metroplex

Although the boys' JV basketball squad was not able to register as many wins as they would have liked, they proved to be very competitive throughout the year. Staying close in games all year long, the Owls just were not able to go over the top on enough occasions.

"We were close in all but three games. We lost a total of 12 games or so, 8 of which were either in overtime, at the buzzer, or by three points or less," said Coach Dan Drake Leading the team were sophomores Chris Johnson and Ken Estes who were named to the first team All-Garland selections

The highlight of the season for the team was the fact that they had the opportunity to win all but two district contests. "This team did not have the height or outside shooting that the majority of the district had," added Coach Drake

Both Johnson and Estes should contribute to the success of the varsity squad next season. Johnson has a good chance to take over the point guard position that is being vacated by graduation, while Estes will most likely get some playing time as the sixth man at one of the forward spots," said Drake

"I'm very proud of this particular team because the never quit. They played tough every game," added Drake

City Championship And Improved Players Result In Average Season

The season average varied between the two freshri an teams. The Gold showed a lot of enthusiasm by tying for the city championship while the black team produced a subpar season.

The Gold team was led by Chad Wood and Brady Hughes who have shown out standing qualities are Paul Dockter and Corey Foreman. The players efforts ed to a confident six game winning streak. We got off to a slow start but at one point in the district race we won six games in a row," said Rudy Montes. Besides the players outstanding efforts, the fear had other highlights. 'We beat South Garland at the place to give them their only loss of liseason, said Montes.

The Black team was led by Tommy Wason and Joe Straw. One of the most in proved players was Chuck Harper. With the players outstanding efforts they improve over last years 2-18 record. Even with a supar season, the team four dimany brig spots. Our two brightest spots were will over Wilmer Hutchins and our season final over Lakeview," said Coach Lee Ferreli.

Togetherness And Determination Create

Respectable Season

At the beginning of the season, the team was ranked among the top ten in the metroplex. The season, however, did not go as predicted. The team had an excellent chance of winning district, but as the season progressed the team lost some valuable players. The girls had a slight height advantage and a good mental attitude, but could not prevail

J.V. Season Ends

The season for the girls was as stated by Coach Lynette Howard, "a bitter-sweet victory- the skill level of the players was very weak but as the season progressed so did their skill level. They had the speed, but were lost once they stole the bail."

The highlight of the season was their victory over Dallas Carter. The girl's played extremely well by initiating their offense and defense and pulling together for a big victory

The team's strength included the shooting ability of Monica English, Tuesday Woods, frieda Crosby, the defensive quickness of Kimmy Blanton, and the rebounding ability of Jackie Coleman. The bench streng came from Tanyo Williams and Lisa Joi son

Advances To State

Despite the new eligibility rules, the memher of the boys and girls varsity track teams had a successful year. With an increased number of players, both teams began the season strong

For the second year in a row, junior Sherri Whitfield qualified for state competition in the 400 meter dash. She set a new school record with a time of 57 1. Junior Michelle Stuart also set a new school record in the discus with a throw measuring 133 feet and 3 inches. For three consecutive years, Stuart was a regional qualifier in both the discus and shot out.

Also qualifying for regionals and setting a new school record with a time of 4 01 09 was the mile relay team consisting of Chery-Orange, Cindy Dunagin, Tricina McCrainey and Sherri Whitherd Other members qualifying for district were Tiashawn Sharp in the 100 meter hurdles, and Dunagin in the 400 meter dash Diane Sedgwick, Vonda Fe Orange and McCrainey qualified in the 8 meter relay while Orange, Dunag McCrainey and Whitfield qualified for 1 1600 meter relay. "The girls worked reshard this season and got in shape quithey came on strong at the end of the seson," said Coach Lynn Lipscomb

The boys 400 meter relay team consist of Terry Smith, Walter Dunagin, Milton Hiderson, Kenneth Giddings, and altern Corey Foreman finished second in distand, therefore, qualified for regionals. It team placed seventh in preliminaries with time of 42.9, Senior Steve Hopwood finish second in district in the 110 high hurdles a qualified for regionals but was unable to plicipate due to eligibility requirements. For the varsity baseball team, the season proved to be very unusual with the team being inconsistent throughout the nondistrict and district competition. Under the leadership of seniors Jim Keller and Kenny Estes and junior Ray Valdez, the team start ed the year by winning the first seven games of the season. However, errors on detense resulted in the team having an up and down season during district play

Usually, each game would have one bad inning in which we would give up four or five runs," said Head Coach Kent Turner, "That would ultimately make the difference in us winning or losing the game," commented Turner

The goals for the team were to hit .300 or better, to boast the field average to .875 to put the opposing team on the defe Although they fell short with their goals, team played the best that they could," Turner. "They did everything that was pected of them," commented Turner V the pitching staff was the strong link on team, too many costly errors hurt their vioss record.

The prospects look encouraging for a year with virtually the entire starting ling returning. "Next years team will be a seclub with an average of three years extence," said Turner. To prepare themse for the season ahead, the players will tempt to eliminate all mental errors and apply pressure to the defense at all times.

JV Squad Suffers Through

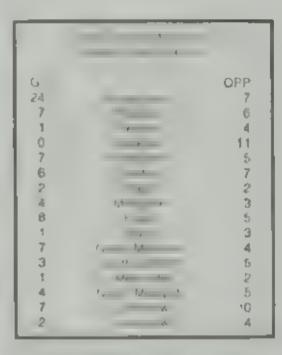

Baseball Season

Although there was some success in the junior varsity season, the team play was disappointing. "We had some very talented players, but we made too many mental errors towards the end of the season," said Head Coach Lee Ferre

The teams strength was in their hitting with freshman Kenneth Terry leading the squad. Freshman Luis Mora and sophomore Chris Monk were the best fielders according to Coach Ferrell

The highlight for the JV team was in their game against J.J. Pearce from Richardson Playing a team made up of sophomores and juniors, the JV team beat Pearce 7-6. It was the first loss of the season for the strong J.J. Pearce team.

Title In 8 Year

After a disappointing footbal season, the upcoming basketball games seemed the only way to bring the Garland High name back up in sports. Before the season began, coaches expected a successful year, but maybe not as successful as it actually turned out.

Returning starters Darren "Mookie" Blaylock, Richard Derrick and Raymond Satchell provided with the essentials for a muchneeded wanning record These talents combined would make a hard trio to defeat. Derrick excelled in rebounds and fast break offense while Blaviock dazzled opponents with fast and fancy ball handling that proved to be too much to keep up with.

During the 1964 football seaon, the Garland Owis found remselves in need of a victory ymbol. It was this season that istrict 7AAAA officials said "no" any type of tirearms at the high hoof football games. The Owis ad been accustomed to hearing ie familiar cannon celebrate its clones.

The Ow Guard (now known as e Guard) members of that state town year, Bobby Weaver, Boburleson, Dennis Worle, Meredith offs, Tommy Turrentine and ave Conner took the challenge I devising a new victory symbouring the GHS-Paschal pepiral, Friday December 4, 1964, Mirrank Connell and Mr. 8, O. December 5, 1964 at Amon Carter Stadium, when the Ow's defeated Paschal 21-7 and earned a Regional Division title

The next week, the mighty Owls were scheduled to play Amari lo-Tascosa for semi-finals at the Cotton Bowl. Amarillo-Tascosa had a cannon and wanted to bring it, so Cotton Bowl officials told Garland they could bring their cannon. This was the only game all year the Owl Guard members were allowed to bring the famed cannon to a football game. That Saturday December 12, 1964, in the Cotton Bowl, the Owl Guard members were jubilantly celebratng their 21-7 victory over Amarillo-Tascosa and the cannon hot from just being fired, was reload ed too quickly and the gun-powder ignited and injured Owl Guard.

members. Bob Burleson and Dennis. Wolfe. Although they were rushed to Baylor Hospital with facial burns and facerations, both were released that evening.

After the incident in the Cotton Bowl the victory belt became the only traveling symbol of GHS victories, carrying GHS the next week over Galena Park and its second state crown in as many years. The historic cannon was placed in front of the GA wing by the Senior Class of 1965

During the Owls' 1983 footbal season the bell cracked — for the third year in a row. Unable to fix the victory bell this year, the Bell Guards found themselves in need of a new bell.

The four senior boys located a brass works factory in Fort Worth that used the original belt for a moid to cast a new one-inch thick solid brass beli. The total cost of the new beli was eight hundred dollars, and the money was earned on Thanksgiving Day at Texas. Recognized as one of the best female athletes, senior LaWanda Vaughn spent the year trying to gain recognition from the rest of the area Participating in both basketball and volleyball, Vaughn carried a double load in which she prepared herself for both

Miss Vaughn tried not only to exercise her athletic skills on the court, but she also tried to conduct herself as a eader off the court "I let the other girls know that in order to have an output, you first have to have an input," said Vaughn

Along with helping other players off the court, she also assisted her own game by other off the court qualities. "I listen and pick up on lots of important things that I think will help me to improve my playing ability," said Vaughn Dedication is the key to being successful at both sports. It takes a great deal of hard work and the mind to want to be successful," said Vaughn. She spent this year trying to gain the upmost respect from her district opponents. "If you go out and show your teammates and others just what you are doing, they will respect you and give you the credit you deserve," stated LaWanda Vaughn

Emphasis Placed On Grades

At times, keeping good grades becomes rather hectic along with extracurricular activities taking place. But, it is not that imposs ible. With more emphasis placed on grades this year, the students usually found time for homework and to study for tests. Just getting by didn't cut it. Passing grades were required to participate in many activities.

Naturally, every school year brings tests. There is testing and more testing going on with the Standarized tests and Departmental exams. These tests are not to be blown off by cause the scores are noted in school records.

Along with the nerve wracking times school also brings many fun times. Group trips are taken every spring by many clubs that compete with other schools around the state. Academics includes a complete assortment of activities of the day that involve students in many ways.

Standardized Testing Allows Students To Build

Examination Skills

Each October, students are required to take a series of standardized tests. Ninth and eleventh grade students are measured for their strengths and weaknesses in basic skill areas such as social studies, sc. ince, reading, math, and literature.

Tenth and twelfth grade students are tested to determine their aptitude in the areas of verbal reasoning, numerical ability, abstract reasoning, clerical speed and accuracy, mechanical reasoning, space relations, spelling, and language usage. In addition a section of the test for sophomores and seniors is a career planning questionnaire which will provide valuable information for making future educational and occupational decisions

"I think these tests are an insult to our intelligence," said senior Angie Harper. Harper stated, "the tests are too easy for someone who has all honor classes, but I guess they're not designed to be an SAT."

Although students always take these tests, most aren't aware of the reasons they are being taken. For most students, it is a time to get out of class

"I'm not even sure why we take them." said senior Lindee Nittler. "They're OK I guess, I suffer through them," stated

"The tests are easy," said senior Susan Starr
"You get out of class for a couple of days. It's no biggie," said Starr.

Many students, however, feel these test are not fair because they are designed for one level. Above average students tend to excel while slower students fall behind

I don't think it's right for some students to do poorly just because they're slower," said senior Robyn Taylor. Taylor stated, "The tests need to be leveled to be more accurate."

Science Labs Provide Alternative

To Routine Classwork

Chemical reactions, enzyme reactions, proteins, carbohydrates, acids and bases are all related in some way or another to the different fields of science. These subjects also play an important role in science labs and experiments.

Science labs are apart of every science teachers' curriculum and every students assignments. Twenty percent of every science class should be spent in some type of science lab, by law. "Science labs and experiments help students develop results from theories," explained biology teacher Laura Barden. The purpose of science labs are to make abstract ideas concrete and comprehensible. Many theorres are proven through lab Bunsen burners, acids and experiments toxic materials requiring

The most common types of labs are dissections Most biology classes are required to dissect a fetal pig. This type of dissection allows the student to observe how each body system functions and how they are interrelated

Lab work enables each student to obtain first hand experience. "Students are able to develop good lab practice and learn the proper lab techniques and safety rules," commented Mary Suggs

Safety rules are very important when students enter the lab areas. Goggles and smocks are always worn during experiments Many times students are exposed to boiling water,

Bunsen burners, acids and toxic materials requiring the use of these safety materials

Lab is a social environment which helps students get along better with their fellow classmates. The lab allows students to work together and learn from their partners. "Lab provides a break from the everyday routine. This break helps the students enjoy and learn from the experiment," said freshman Eddie Ramirez

Some students even continue their science interests by entering the annual Science Fair. By entering, students are often rewarded for their efforts both in the classroom and in research

Fieldtrips, Contests Provide Different Opportunities To Learning

Despite recent school reform bills. Ross Perot has yet to find a way to prevent students from taking advantage of some time away from school. The school year brings many things for students to look forward to. Among these are the Senior Prom, graduation, contests, and field trips. Departmental Exan

Beginning with the common information 1983-84 school year, students began taking departmental examinations in several areas. Although not thoroughly understood or appreciated by all students and teachers, the departmentals" have definite benefits to the student, teacher, and district

Since the departmental exam course guide, the teacher must insure that all areas of the course guide are presented in class. This produces a more standardized curriculum in which all classes in a particular course cover a core of teacher planning

The teacher, when given the results of the departmental examination, is able to spot areas in which the presentation is ineffective and needs a different approach. If most students do poorly on a particular unit, the teacher can adjust his methods to remedy the situation

The school district studies the results of departmental examinations to evaluate the course guides in the areas of recommended methods and approaches to produce a more effective aide to

Research papers, next to the SAT tests, are the most dreaded part of a senior's year. CLUBS

Students Gain From Involvement

Club memberships not only provide students with time to develop friendships and go to parties, they also are a way in which to part ticipate more in school "They (clubs) make me feel like I am a part of the school and I know more of what is going on," said sentor Angie Harper

Fund raisers are a large part of every club and organization. The profits from the items sold by the members are used to buy supplies, have parties, go on trips, and grant scholarships.

Contests, conventions and scholarships make all of the hard work pay off. Over $1000 in scholarships are given to club members every year on Awards Day. Just going to the last in many or have 3 a post or made with the club for the yearbook doesn't really make a person a member of the organization.

To be a part of it all, one must become involved.

This participation in school sponsored organizations is outstanding. This dedication of the club members gains recognition to both themselves and the school.

The Thespian Society is responsible for producing a full length play in the fall. An other play is dramatized in the spring for the U.I.L Competition This year, the group produced William Inge's play, "Bus Stop," in December. For the U.I.L competition, they used "Mr Flannery's Ocean." They ilso took a trip to New York where a Broadway show could be seen each night of their trip Sophomore Steve Reeves commented, "I ve found that acting is an excellent way to overcome shy ness."

The art club was success ful in competition by bring ing back 75% of the ribbons that were presented. During the Youth Art Month, the Art Club is responsible for decorating the art building. The campaign for Youth Art Month was 'Art is a primary choice.' Sophomore. Steve Timmons said, "Art is a good way for me to express my individualism."

The Youth Advisory Council works with Mr. Price towards the improvement of the food served in the cafe teria. The Council surveys students, faculty, and staff for constructive criticism of the foods that will be served They then move toward improving, and many times eradicating the problem entirely. "YAC serves as a communication bridge be tween the school food ser vice program, school facul ty, administration, students. and the community," said junior Sherry Dawson

Choral Department Continues Successful Traditions With

Award Winning Performances

Dept. is made up of three choirs, the Freshman Choir. the Choralaires and the A Cappella choir. It also includes a vocal group, Celebrations. All three choirs have performed in the Fal-Concert, the Christmas Concert, and Solo and Ensemble. All three performed at U.I.L. in April and the Spring Concert in May

The Freshmen Choir is a mixed chair consisting of 41 singers. Freshmen choir members are selected by audition. This past year they have given a special performance at the Amfac Hotel and individual choir members have participated in the Jr. High Region Choir and the annual Dinner Show

The GHS Choralaires is a women's choir made up of all grades. The choir is designed to develop sightreading and vocal skills through the performance of both popular music and traditional choral literature. In dividual members participat ed in the Dinner Show this

The A Capella Choir is

The High School Choral made up of 10th, 11th, and 12th graders who auditioned. The choir has done many shows including a combined concert with the Richland College Choir and the Richland Orchestra. The choir went on a trip to Corpus Christi in May, Individual choir members have earned the honor to be on the All-Region Choir, the Jr. High Region Choir, and have participated in Solo and Ensem ble Contest

> Celebrations is a select group of nine vocalists and six instrumentalists. The group performs for various community organizations as well as school and church groups. The group's biggest performance was "American Pop" which they per formed in February, "American Pop" was a musical review containing music from 1950 to 1983. Members of the Celebrations, thirteen of which are also in A Capella performed in all three choir concerts

were given the chance to select any music they liked or wanted to perform. After they auditioned and were selected, the members spent only a week getting it ready for their audiences. The week of practice seemed to be enough, since the show was another big success for the choral dept

In Solo and Ensemble, 48 singers received a superior rating, while 32 received an excellent rating. The contest requires extra study for the singers and it also requires free time in order to prac-

During U.I.L. they practiced even more. They at tended morning and evening practices and worked hard to develop a very impressive show. Through their hard work and love of music, they have become very success ful in representing Garland

Although six members of Youth and Government placed high at District Conference, only two of the members attended the State Conference in Austin in February

Senior Larry Cannon wrote a bill which passed in the hearing committee at District Conference. He went to Austin with his bill as a Senator. His bill passed in the hearing committee again, but did not pass the floor of the Senate due to a lack of time. "I was sur prised that my bill made it to the Senate floor 1 didn t think that it would get that far " said Cannon. Then he added, "Several people liked my bill and helped me to get it to the Senate by influence ing those who were unsure of the bill

Personalities Make The Difference

From 8.15 to 3.15 each day, 2063 students meet in the cafeter student commons, halls and classrooms. Along with these students, 109 faculty members come together five days a week. Little attention is really paid to this crowd as a whole It is the 2172 individuals that are noticed. Along with each individual comes a distinct personality.

Dressed every way from cowboy boots and hats to fluorescent sweatshirts and tennis shoes, every one seems to fit into their own slots in the student body. But there is always room for more

The outstanding individuals, as selected by their peers, are honored at the Popularity Ball in February. These students are nominated as favorities in categories from Most Talented to Most Beautiful.

Seniors Survive Final Year

With the arrival of the new year, the seniors looked forward to such events as graduation, prom and the yearend cruise to the Bahamas. Having only a few months left to raise money, the class quickly went to work. They began with the traditional Christmas wrapping paper sales which netted a profit of $1400. In addition, the Parents' Club sold Christmas poinsettias which increased the class's fund for the prom.

As prom time grew closer, the class officers formed committees to handle all of the minor details such as invitations, decorations and tickets. After selecting the Lincoln Hotel as the appropriate site for the prom, the class then chose April 27th as the date of the event.

Following the prom and graduation, the seniors embarked on a five day-four night cruise. Flying non-stop to Miami, the students sailed to the Bahamas with stops in Nassau and Freeport.

Homework Blues Avoided

Homework is something we could all do without, but whether we like it or not, it is an accepted part of high school. All through the halls you can see the signs of "homework Blues"! Early Morning Routine Varies With Students

Does the buzz from the alarm clock sound familiar? Well, 63% of the students are awakened by a clock going off. The other 47% rely on their parents to get them out of bed. There are a few exceptions: junior Bruce Heinance stated, "My dog wakes me up."

Almost 75% of the students surveyed usually wake up on time. The others wake up at the last minute and have to rush around to get ready for school. "I wake up

Eggs, bacon, cereal or instant breakfast: Which one do you eat? Forty-two percent of the students surveyed eat a fast breakfast which usually consists of cereal and milk. Thirty-eight percent eat a large breakfast of eggs and bacon cooked by mom. The remaining percent of the students don't eat breakfast at all

About half of the students listen to the radio in the mornings while they are getting ready for school. The other half watch television as they get ready for school.

Juniors Plan For Their Senior Year

The Junior Class began the 1984-85 year with a lot of plans for fund-raising activities. With the help of a very active Parents' Club, the Junior Class raised money by selling candy, working at Six Flags and Mervyn's, taking Santa pictures at Safeway and at school, and by sponsoring a Victory Dance after a Fall football game.

Planned events for the

The faithful few who participated in the year's activities had an enjoyable time working to raise money for next year's Senior Prom. Hopefully, as Seniors, the class will begin to show more enthusiasm and will work towards having the best promever at Garland High School

With the worst behind them and only the best ahead, these sophomores are on their way to the glorious Senior Prom

The year started out with a bang as they sold spirit stickers, balloons and soft drinks to the spectators along the Labor Day Parade route. This successful fund raiser brought in approximately $200,00 and as class president Jeff Cofer put it, "It was a blast. We really had a good time, and there was lots of participation."

Participation seems to be no problem for the sophomore class. "The participation is usually pretty good, but we can always use more We held a jog-a-thon at Williams Stadium one weekend and only three people showed up. That was a real disappointment, we usually don't have that kind of problem," said Colette Stanton, vice president.

The biggest money-maker of the year was the candy sale. Students sold candy before school, between classes, during lunch and after school. The candy sale brought in over $1,600.00 and set this class on their way to the top.

In addition to the new ideas for money making, the sophomore class has carried on a profitable idea from their freshman year. On the second Sunday of each month, they held a paper drive in the front parking lot of the school, Pam Milam, sophomore class reporter said, "I really don't know whose idea it was to begin with, but it was a good one. We made anywhere from $200.00 to $300.00 a month."

With new ideas and continued participation, the enormous price tag that comes with a great Senior Prom should not be a hard goal to reach

Martin Pursues Music

Music is always in the air for sophomore Tracy Martin. Tracy enjoys music very much. "I really consider myself very fortunate to be a member of Celebrations," says Martin. Celebrations is a select group that requires each member to tryout the previous year. Tracy tried out her freshman year during the spring. "I was really surprised when Mr. Bragg told me I had been selected to play bass guitar." Even though this is Tracy's first year, she hopes to continue being a member of Celebrations throughout her highschool years.

"I've been playing guitar for six years, so music seems natural now, "comments Tracy, Tracy is also a member of Acapella Choir, which also requires an audition. "I enjoy all forms of music, so I really like singing." Tracy has been a member of different acapella choirs since the seventh grade. My mom says she can't remember a day that I was not singing. She has received many awards for her outstanding music abilities. "I've been getting a one rating at U.I.L., All-City, and All-Regional contests since the eighth grade," said Tracy Martin.

The main reason Tracy pursues music is because, "I really like to express my feelings through music," stated Tracy Martin.

Playing the guitar for Celebrations, sophomore Tracy Martin practices with the group at least five hours a week

Freshmen Set Goals For Senior Y

Being new in a school is hard, but being new in a high school is even more difficult. The first year in high school is a big step in the life of a freshman. Some freshman fell excited and some feel fear for being in new surroundings

Freshman James Dugger commented by saying, "At the beginning of high school, for me, was scary. I was always afraid of getting picked on by the sentors." Freshman Megan McAmis summarizes her feelings by saying, "At first I was really scared of a new place, but as the days went on, I found the week was up, some out how great it really is, I'm enjoying myself. I've also come out of my shell and am not shy anymore."

"I was so confused. Everything was so big and I could not find my way around the place," said freshman Susan Cline. Not being able to find your locker or room number. was bad enough without having to worry about being late to class. "I had the hardest time trying to find everything. The first day of school I must have been late to every class," said freshman Patti Martinez, Before freshmen blew a sigh of rehef. Overall, the freshmen did adjust well to the sudden change of atmosphere.

It seemed like in no time at all, the freshman class officers and some of the freshmen were well on their way towards their first fund raiser, selling spirit buttons. It was not as successful as wehad hoped," commented Freshman class president Lori Enox. "We worked at Marvyn's taking inventory and stock. We made $120.00," said Lori Enox.

Freshmen Receive Prestigious Award

For First Time

The award of All GH5 was given to four outstanding freshmen. These freshmen included: Christi Pointer, Mark McLaughlin, Shelli Stanton and Chad Wood. All GHS selection is based on the qualities of leadership, strong character, positive attitude, scholarship and the ability to get along well with fellow classmates. This was their first opportunity to receive this prestigious award.

"I was shocked because I have one teacher who must like me by yelling at me," commented winner Mark McLaughlin.

Shelli Stanton said, "I was nervous because I've never done anything like this before."

"I didn't expect it. I didn't picture myself up there. I felt privileged," said Christi Pointer.

Kindergarten To High School BEST FRIENDS

We all know that basically everyone needs friends: someone to talk to, someone to go places with, someone to share things with, or someone to be helpful in a crisis. But what exactly does it take to be a friend? "Someone who is flexible; at times they can either forgive or forget," said sophomore Scarlett Florez, Sophomore Michelle Farriell adds, "A friend should be dependable. I mean, that if I tell a friend something and ask her not to tell anyone, I expect her not to tell anyone."

Trust and honesty, although both good virtues and good qualities in a friendship, they do not always appear in a single situation. Though some people may trust their friends, they are not always honest with each other.

Best friends usually respect each other and model themselves after the good qualities that they admire about their best friend; but, of course, the qualities that they may like about someone else may not be such a likeable virtue in themselves, good friendship. Sopho-mores Chris Ivey and Jeff Carr are an example of this kind of relationship. Ivey said, "Jeff is the best friend I have ever had." Jeff comments by saying, "Chris is the coolest guy I have ever known."

What makes friends so compatible? "Well, Michele and I have known each other since Kindergarten, about eight years. I guess what makes us such lasting friends is that we're different." said Florez

Whatever it is that makes a friendship last can't be too Paying compliments to demanding or there would others may bring about a not be as many friendships as there are today. Besides, isn't having a friend really worth the cost?

Student Conside Break To Be A LAID BACK TIME

Have you ever wondered where all of the people go when the bell rings for break? In a recent survey, we found that 38% of students go to the student commons rather than the dipping or smoking areas. Some people go to the commons and cafeteria to talk to their friends and eat. However, Robert Lechner goes there because he feels "there is nothing else to do."

Seventy-eight percent of the students prefer to continue having break after first period. Preparing for the long day ahead and eating breakfast are among the many reasons for this preference. When asked if break was too early in the day, James Strickland replied, "No, it is not too early in the day. Some people don't eat breakfast. They need that time to eat,"

The ten minutes given for break has been found to be too short of a time of 51% of the students to do what they needed to do. By the tir students reach their destination, there is very little tirleft to converse with the friends before having to to their second period class On the other hand, Trackannon says, "Ten minutes enough time. If you can't what you need to do in the minutes, then you're in beshape."

Overall, the student bo finds break to be a laid batime to talk to friends.

Hectic, But Possible Five Minutes

for a typical student, the five minutes between classes is a time not only for getting to the next class, but to visit with the friends as well. When the tardy bell rings, some students, who are late to class, are left without an excuse

The majority of the five minute time is spent talking and visiting with friends. Senior Larry Cannon commented, "I can make it from Mrs. Murphy's class to Coach Ferrell's class. But I can't make it from Coach Ferrell's class to Mr. Cruse's class." When asked why, Larry said, "I have got to talk on the way."

Not all students are talking during that small amount of time. Some go straight to class. "I go to my locker and then I go to my next class," said sophomore Carl Turner. Turner added, "I always try to make sure that I am in my next class by the time the bell rings,"

Although the five minute time period poses problems for some students, most students are able to get to class on time.

Taking advantage of the telephone, sophomore Kim Novell spends part of her five minutes in the commons.

Beeson Remembers Times Past

Graduation was one week away. Perry, a senior in my first period Theme Writing class, asked permission to go to his car to get his theme. I wrote him a permit. That was 1974, eleven years ago. I haven't seen him since. I have often wished that I had asked him where he parked his car.

Judy was an exceptional young lady in many ways. She was deeply conscious of all that was going on about her, and she could discuss almost anything intelligently, one on one, or in a group. Her ability to express herself. was marvelous. Her detailed descriptions of her boy friend who was, in her words, "the handsomest devil I ever saw," never failed to gain and hold her audience. She knew exactly how to use colors, red, green, all of them. When she spoke in class, the students as well as the teacher listened. No one ever seemed to be conscious of the fact that Judy was blind.

Judy's almost constant companion was Dara, her seeing-eye dog. I say "almost constant" because Judy sometimes asked me to "dog sit for her so she could go to the pep ral ies. She teared that the noise would apset Dara Once when Judy was working on a writing assignment, she asked permission to run down the hall from R-204 to the library. Decorations Refle INDIVIDUA PERSONALITIE

Have you ever been in any of the Principals' offices? If you have, you may have noticed a variety of decorations, ranging from plants to nickels and pennies. The ornaments in each of their offices usually tend to reflect their personalities and favorite pastimes. Some of these have been given to them from teachers and appreciative students.

Larry Williams, for example, has quite a few wildlife pictures. He also has several stuffed animals. "I really enjoy hunting. I hunt every time I get a chance," said Williams, His leisure activity great-grand father, grandfais mainly quail hunting, "I've been interested in this sport since I was in college." Williams also has a giant sized buffalo nickel and an odd shaped mushroom on top of his desk. He has discovered that unusual decorations tend to serve as a good conversation piece. "They can sometimes put a hostile student in a more cooperative mood," explained Williams.

Like Williams, Rick Goodell has a large number of wildlife portraits. He, too, enjoys hunting. Goodell also has an antique train on top of his book shelves, "My ther and father were all railroad men. That's why trains are special to me."

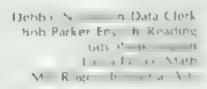

Cliff Mowery's office contains quite a few pictures of his family and himself at different ski resorts. "My family and I have shared skiing, as a hobby, for about six years. I always like to look up at the pictures and remember all of the great times I have enjoyed with them," Mowery stated

Debbie Wester's and Bob Price's offices are almost entirely decorated with things that other people have given them. Mr. Price's extraordinary penny tree was given to him by some forme mentary students. W office contains many I ful plants that she h ceived as gifts. Yet her ite decorations are si tures she bought whi was in Europe, "I lo look at my pictures. The ways bring back memories and make m I was there again,' Wester.

Meadows Students Observe

School Days

On September 4th, five students from NT.SU. arrived on campus to begin their internship. This group consisted of John Allen, Linda Dun ard, Denise Reed, Cindy Stephens and Tippi West. Because of a $850,000 grant awarded to their college these students were able to begin their studies this fall 'E. a h student was required to spend three days out of every week observing a teacher and the remainder of the week was spent with the administrators," explained Miss Wester. Their main goals were to experience what really occurs in an ordinary day in high school, "I believe that this project was really a positive learning experience for these students," commented Instructional Administrator Debbie Western

Sharing a joke between the five, the Meadows students relax at the incheon in their honor

WORST: George Michael and the rest of Wham! tied with the Jacksons

Rock Group

BEST: Again, VanHalen came through for their fans. REO Speedwagon, Chicago and Duran Duran followed.

WORST: Boy George and Culture Club took top billing this year. U2 was second.

Fast Food

BEST: According to the polled students, McDonalds ranked number one.

WORST: Jack-in-the-Box was voted as the worst place to eat fast food.

Rock Song

BEST: This was an easy one. John Parr's "Naughty Naughty" brought in 89% of the votes

WORST: Culture Club can't please anyone! Their song, "Miss Me Blind," won first place for this spot. Following close behind was The Cars' "Why Can't I have you".

Country Singer

BEST: Sorry, but George Strait didn't make it this time. Kenny Rogers did! Next in line was Hank Williams Jr

WORST: Willie Nelson won this great honor almost by himself! Hank Williams Jr. came in close behind.

Located across the high school on South Garland Ave. Jack in the Box was selected as the worst fast food restaurant

Freshman Morrison Returns To Camp As

A Counselor

Fifteen-year-old Matthew Morrison will return to the camp of Summer Events for Exceptional Kampers as a counselor instead of a camper. Beginning as a camper in the children's camp in 1980, he progressed later to the youth camp. SEEK is a special ministry to the North Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church at the Texoma Conference Center.

It serves persons who are unable to function in the church's regular summer camp program due to orthopedic, visual or hearing impairments, mental retardation of emotional disorders.

Morrison, a freshman, is a youth group member at Axe Memorial United Methodist Church and is active in the Southwest Wheelchair Athletic Association, in which he participates in basketball, track and tennis. He attended during the summer a SWAA seven-day wilderness camp.

Born with spina bifida, a defect of the spinal cord and column. Matthew went through several major surgeries as a child. He will work with exceptional children during the camp.

Planning to return to camp, ! Matthew Morrison wil, be a i instead of a camper

English Teacher Recalls Former Career As An

Investigative Reporter

Before moving to Garland Mrs. Carol Harrell, an English teacher, spent four years as a news reporter for WTOK-TV in Meridian, Mis-

It was all an accident," states Mrs. Harrell She was a guest on a political show when she made a joke about becoming a reporter. As she was walking out to her car, the station manager ask that she take an application. Mrs. Harrell filled it out, sent it in and was soon known as a investigative reporter, political reporter and anchor on Chan-

"My dream was aways to be Barbara Walter- said Mrs. Harrell. She did stories on many dangerous incidents including drug raids and armed robberies. She did many political interviews including Presidents Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan

It's not all fun and games There were some very embarrassing moments including Mrs. Harrell bumping into President Ford and her throwing papers up in the air while on television

For Mrs. Harrell, even the embarassing moments were an experience. She said that she enjoyed her job very much because of the special insights that she gained from different people

Mrs. Harrell leaves a note for those interested in TV journalism. She said, "Radio and television managers don't usually look for those with a communications background. Most look for a person with degrees in English and journalism because of the amount of copy that has to be Our Name Speaks For 1 Republic Ban Garland

Students Contribute To Sales

Purchases by teenagers make a definite impact on business in and around the community. Using money from part-time jobs, allowances and gifts, students buy lunches, gasoline, school supplies, presents and clothes

Parents don't go out and buy these things today. Most of the shopping is done by teenagers. They prefer to go to area shopping centers and near-by mails

On any day of the week, an average of about $30,000 in cash is in the purses and pockets of students. This money is soon to be spent on snacks, t-shirts and albums

Friday and Saturday nights are big money-makers for local businesses. With the opening of many new restaurants and the new movie theater, an average of $15 per person is spent each night on the weekends

> As teens start buying things for themselves, the area businesses grow and profit with each purchase. High school students play a big part in supporting the community

With a new advisor, the yearbook staff started out by checking into the Mesquite Ramada Inn, where they stayed while attending the All-American Journalism Workshop at Eastfield College in July

The staff also attended the ICPC convention in Austin on Spring Break. During their free time, staffers walked across the river to the Hyatt Regency and borrowed the hot tub since they could not find the indoor nool.

Everyone that drove by stared at us. I think it had something to do with us wearing our bathrobes! It seemed like a good idea at the time," said junior Jill Boditord

In April, Owl's Nest Editor Kay Flack, Owl's Eye Editor Doug Brennan, advisor Frank "Tom" Cruse and yearbook representative Tread Sheffield traveled to Topeka, Kansas by way of Chicago, Illinois, in order to tour the Josten's Yearbook Plant

I was real impressed by the plant. We really learned a lot about the making of the book and we had fun, too," said senior Kay Flack

The group was treated to a very luxurious dinner at "The Loft," a popular restaurant in Topeka by consultant Chris Jensen.

With the completion of each of the five major deadlines the staff had a party in the journalism room. The smell o popcorn which permeated through the upstairs AD hal was noticed and was not completely appreciated by all the passed by the room

With the conclusion of the graduation ceremonies, t

With the addition of House Bill 72 and its many change the 1984-85 school year offered a great deal of material is coverage by the journalism department.

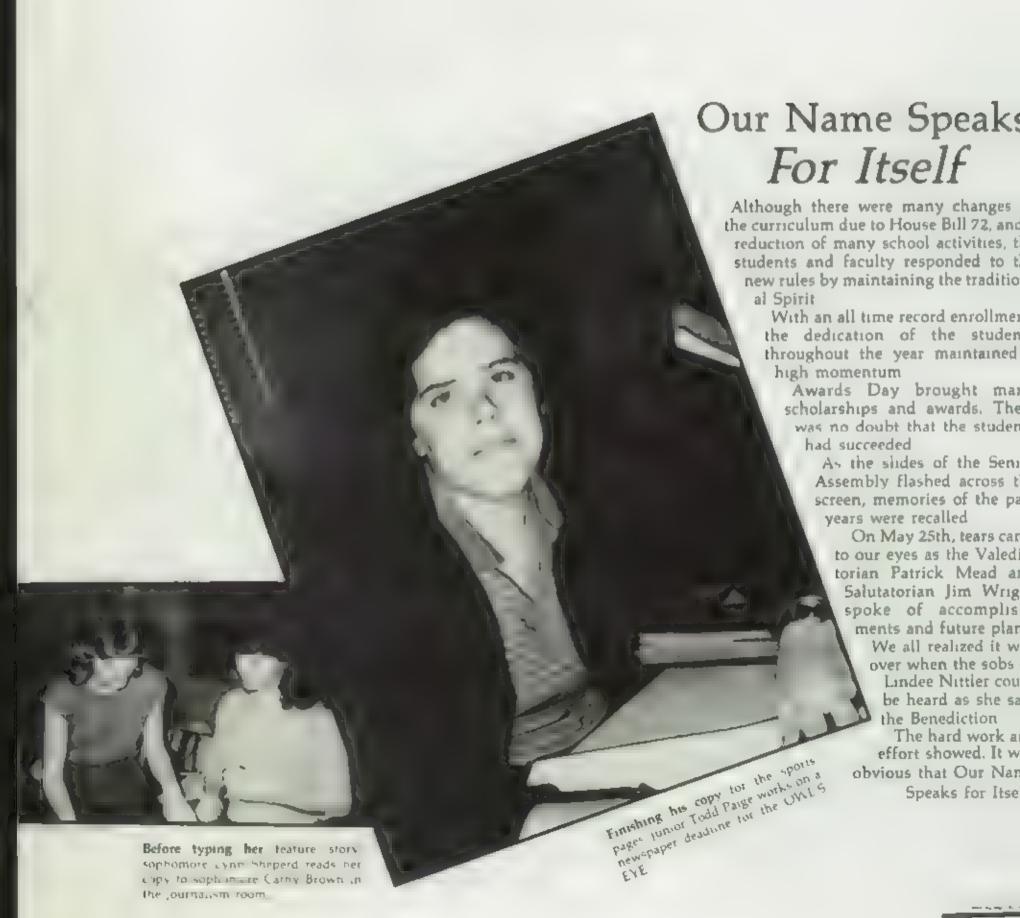

Specifically, the newspaper staff reported its changes a new developments in the first issue of the 1984 Owl's Ey The Owl's Eye staff created a total of six issues throughough year with major articles ranging from the 1984 electron blow-off classes.

Over spring break in March, the news and yearbo staffs could be found at the state workshops at the Univer ty of Texas. Here the staffs learned new techniques the would be shown later in the newspaper

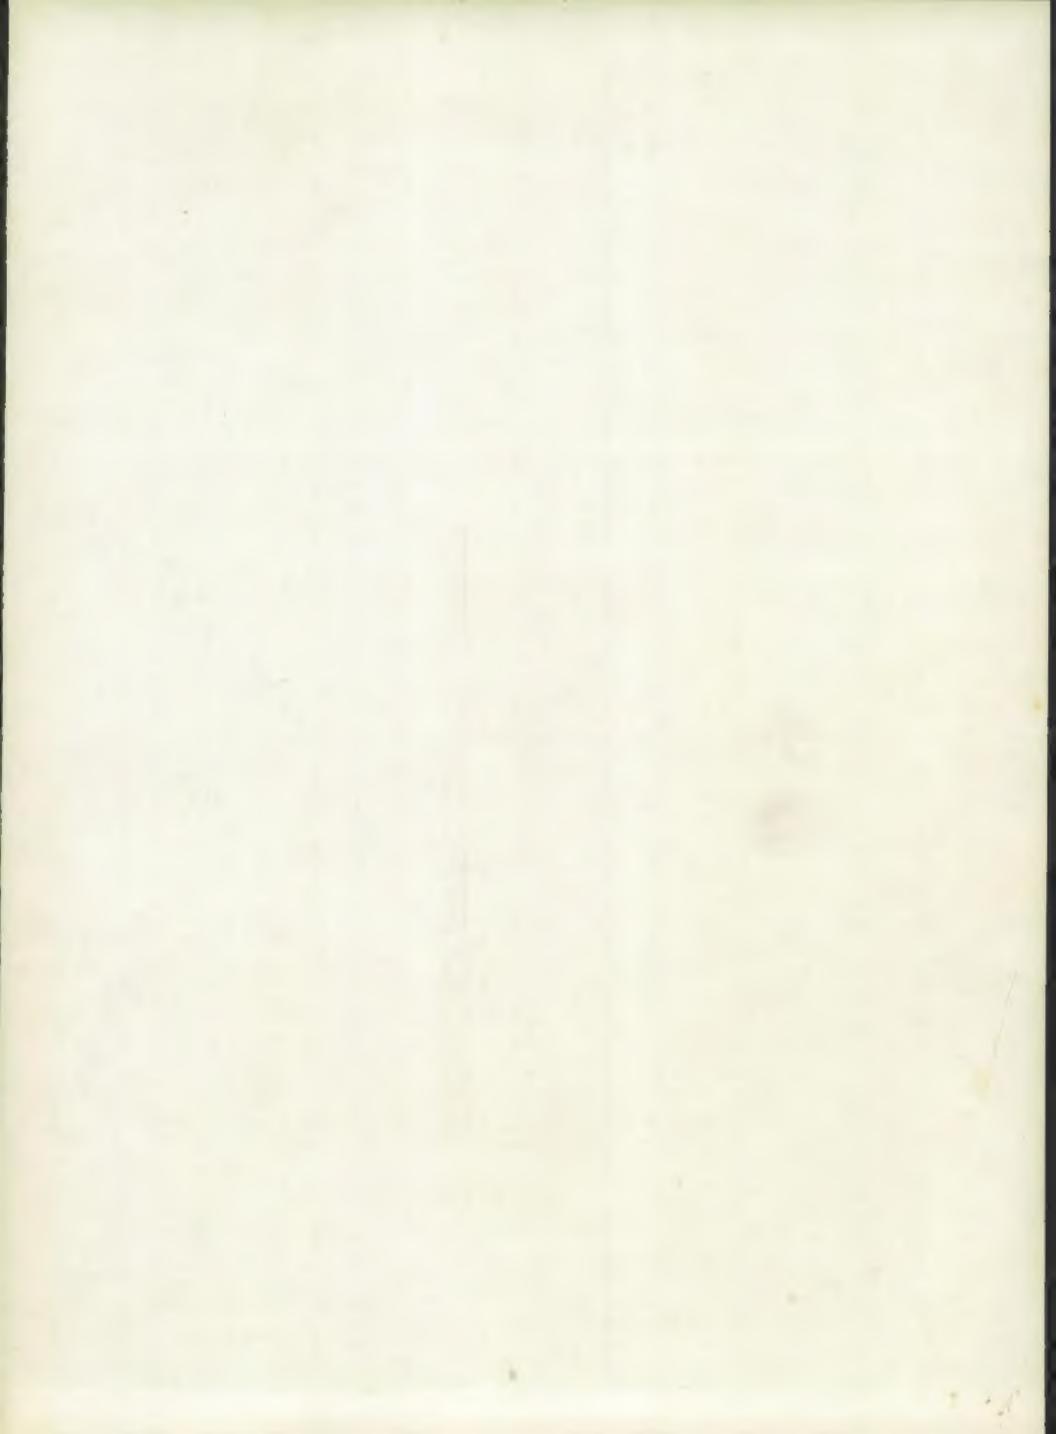

Overall, the year was one that showed success and pri
